

Module 1: Variables and Data Types

Python uses variables to store data.

Common data types include int, float, str, and bool.

Variables are assigned using the equals (=) sign.

Example: `x = 10`